

FIRE. Yes, it all began here. FIRE!

Our culinary odyssey began more than 300,000 years ago, when man first discovered how to tame and harness FIRE. Food has affected human evolution, traditions, civilizations, and our choices ever since.

Punjabi cuisine is a huge and colorful canvas in the Indian culinary continuum, with various shades of flavors, tastes, and textures from a wide range of areas in both Indian and Pakistani Punjab Provinces. A stunning depiction of Punjab's earthy heritage, rich green fields, vigorous lifestyle, and superb food comes to mind when we think of it.

Punjab's cuisine absorbed a wide range of culinary influences as a result of its location at the crossroads of the silk route. Greek and Arab invaders left their mark on everything from kebabs to exquisite creamy curries.

The simple idea of kebabs conjures up images of a spice combination and fusion with sliced, pounded, or minced meat cooked gently in a tandoor; and the intoxicating aroma of desi ghee and charcoal flooding your senses like the sun.

When it comes to kebab, it's impossible not to mention the Tandoor. Without getting into the etymology, the history of the Tandoor can be traced back to the Indus Valley Civilization, 5000 years ago, and the Tandoor has evolved significantly since then. Although Tandoor has long been a part of Punjabi cuisine, it was the Mughals who introduced the modern-day Tandoor to India.

Punjabi curries are an embodiment of PUNJABIAT — rich, robust, and full of life. They are known for their bold textures and vibrant ingredients, which have made them popular across borders and continents.

HOY PUNJAB was founded in the summer of 2022 as a result of our passion for food. We not only cook and serve food, but we also honor our culinary roots, history, heritage, and legacy. Every dish on the menu is not just a collection of ingredients cooked together, but it also has a story to tell. They tell you about our challenges and victories, our culinary brilliance, and our rich history, culture, and traditions. Each bite is a piece of history, not just a meal on your plate. "HOY PUNJAB" is committed to taking these culinary tales to new heights.

We've gingerly rustled together a menu of stunning gourmet dishes that, aside from making you feel connected to our humble past, will also act as a time machine, allowing you to see glimpses of the era it belongs to.

Along with the traditional course, we've prepared a carefully curated menu of Italian and Oriental dishes to appeal to a wide range of palates.
